MASS MEETING HEARS HENRY YOUNG ADDRESS F.U.A. MEMBERS AT CLIVE

CLYDE—A very large crowd attended the mass meeting of the F.U.A. held in Clyde on Monday evening, where the guest speaker was Mr. Henry Young, president of the F.U.A.

Mr. Lee Garon, president of the Clyde Local, called the meeting to order and introduced Mr. Glen of Westlock, president of the district, who spoke for a few moments on the activities of the locals. He said that many of the locals are busy discussing the Marketing Board and wanting to get away from the Grain Exchange.

Mr. Garon then introduced C. Weir of Linaaria, district secretary, who needed little introducing to the crowd in attendance, for he is an active worker and well-known. He stated that a lot of the unrest in the FUA and the criticism was merely the growing pains of a new organization.

Henry Young was then introduced and gave a very interesting speech. He told his audience that all organizations receive criticism and when the daily papers give it plenty of headlines, it was evidence that the organization must be doing well, whether the criticism is good or bad. Mr. Young outlined his trip to Ottawa with the delegation. They were well received by Western members, who were sympathetic to their cause. Eastern members were not interested. In their meeting with the Cabinet, they met the Prime Minister and eight members of the House in a two-hour conference. Mr. St. Laurent told them that it did not seem right that the price of wheat to the consumer should be higher than the selling price.

Another delegation will be sent to Ottawa the first of May. Mr. Young suggested that a mass delegation to Ottawa by farmers may bring far more results, as it would definitely attract more attention.

He spoke on Rural Electrification in Alberta and compared the price of it to the setup in Manitoba that operates at so much lower cost.

Mr. Young spoke briefly on the high cost of gasoline here in a province so rich in oil.

Following his speech, a series of questions followed by interested farmers.

Celts officially become horses at the age of five years.

Canada's Prosperity

Interest created over the new federal budget poses a suitable occasion to review Canada's whole economic situation.

The outstanding feature of current economic trends is the shift from a peacetime to a defence economy. This shift is a cold fact that can't be ignored and our thinking must be adjusted to face the events arising from such a situation.

According to estimates in Finance Minister Abbott's new budget, Canada should end the fiscal year with a surplus of $30,000,000. Actually it may turn out to be much larger than this as last year Canada budgeted for a $15,000,000 surplus and ended up with $203,000,000 in the kitty.

These surpluses show that despite ever-increasing expenditures on defence, the Canadian government is in a sound financial position.

Industry Busy

Canada's industrial corporations appear to be in a prosperous position. Although certain materials are in short supply for civilian production, manufacturers are keeping the wheels of industry humming with new defence contracts.

Employment is at a high level, and will probably be higher before the year is out.

On the farms the outlook is not quite so bright. Farm income dropped 25 per cent during the past year. Food production is one item that is not seriously influenced by the defence economy, and if production on the farms continues to rise food prices should drop. This is good for urban Canada but bad for rural Canada.

It is particularly bad for rural Canada because while prices of rural products will decline, manufactured goods will probably continue to become more expensive.

The working class still comprises the largest segment of Canada's population. Actually, the working class includes everybody that works for anybody else, no matter what their line of work might be.

Inflation Threat

The trend toward inflation that is becoming more evident day by day poses as serious a threat to Canada's welfare as does any foreign aggressor. No one will dispute our contention that a nation must be internally strong to meet any external threat.

Rising living costs and an increasing taxation burden are making it more and more difficult for the average Canadian to make ends meet. It is particularly menacing for the many thousands on meagre pensions of various kinds.

However, it must be admitted that on the whole Canadians are more prosperous than ever before in history. Bank savings are at a record peak, new homes are rising everywhere, and more people are driving more cars than ever before.

But nevertheless, the prosperity that this country has been enjoying may soon become a thing of the past if certain dangerous trends are not halted.

We may find ourselves in a depression of prosperity—a depression wherein everybody's working but nobody's able to keep on their feet. This could include business corporations, big and small, as well as the masses of wage-earners.

The new federal budget certainly isn't going to make it any easier on us. But the government needs more money and can only get it through taxation.

With the new 20 per cent tax on income tax, and the raising of sales tax from eight to 10 per cent, the cost of living will register a sharp jump in the months ahead.

Price Controls Now!

The government's policy in fighting inflation—it admits inflation is becoming more of a threat every week—is to reduce purchasing power through higher taxes, curbs on credit buying, and other measures.

We think this will cause too great a hardship because the end does not justify the means. Prices may eventually come down but meanwhile extreme hardships might be our lot.

It is admitted the new federal budget is, on the whole, a just one. It is also admitted it will push the cost of living still higher than it is now.

We think the new federal budget is one more sign of how urgently price controls are needed. It is one more reason why serious consideration should be given to immediate reimposition of price controls.

The Battle Of The Fertilizers

By T. W. PUE

Something new has been added to the Canadian fertilizer market, Liquid Fertilizer. I've heard some condemn liquid fertilizer as practically useless. On the other hand, I've heard first hand praise for the product by farmers who have tried it. Who is right?

Well, like any other controversial subject, both sides may be right and both may be wrong. I think the farmer who does not try it for himself may be more wrong than anyone. But information about liquid fertilizer is lacking to most growers and I here submit some notes we managed to pick up on the subject.

T. W. PUE

In European countries like Holland, where crop areas are small and yields high, heavy use of liquid fertilizer or liquid manure is made. In China, productivity has been maintained for centuries through use of liquid manure.

Pioneer research work on liquid fertilizers, as we know them today, was done in 1931 by Dr. Victor A. Tiedjens and Professor Lyman G. Schermerhorn of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station at Rutgers, N.J. Their purpose was to provide a more efficient, more economical method of using fertilizer materials, and their approach was that of the plant physiologist who studies the growth and functioning of plants.

Fertilizers are used to supply plant nutrients which the crop cannot get from the soil. Professor Wallace S. Moreland, Rutgers University states: "UNFORTUNATELY the nutrients in dry fertilizers cannot be used in the form they are applied since PLANTS only ABSORB FOODS which are DISSOLVED. Thus, during dry weather you may have plenty of fertilizer in the dry soil, but it is in no sense available to the plant. An adequate supply of water is the key that unlocks plant food in liquid dry fertilizer."

LIQUID PLANT FOOD provides the nutrient elements that a plant requires, in the proportion the plant needs, already dissolved, thus making nutrients IMMEDIATELY AVAILABLE. This is especially important in early, critical stages of plant life, for, instead of lying dormant waiting for rain, the plant obtains natural growth.

RESEARCH IN ENGLAND

Further research by Dr. W. O. Roberts of East Malling, Kent, England, and Dr. K. Starr Chester of the Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus, Ohio, amongst others, demonstrated the practical benefit of treating seed grain with liquid fertilizer to conserve valuable fertilizer materials; to assist healthy, early growth; to encourage earlier emergence, longer growing season, earlier maturity. Practical use by thousands of farmers on large acreages has confirmed these findings.

Seed treatment with liquid plant food enables the farmer to KNOW that a FAIR SHARE OF NUTRIENTS IS AVAILABLE TO EACH PLANT AT THE START. Additional nutrients can be supplied to the crop by top dressing with liquid plant food during various phases of growth. Ordinary spraying equipment can be used reducing the farmers investment in expensive equipment. Weed sprays and liquid fertilizer, applied in the same operation, save time and labor.

Free Thought

History reveals that often, in the progress of mankind, conceptions of error have been generally and generously accepted and believed.

The commonly-accepted notion about many things may be demonstrated, through the years, to be incorrect and erroneous. We may take some comfort in the thought, at this time in the life of the human race, that in the more intelligent centuries the people are less superstitious and ignorant than ever before in the history of the world.

In its own mysterious way, truth will eventually establish itself. Regardless of the artificial support given error, the lifting process continues to reject and renounce false beliefs and ideas.

The progress of the future is linked to freedom of thought and freedom of speech. Those who believe in progress and truth should vigorously oppose any effort to curb the right of man to formulate his own thoughts and to express them freely to others.

The Bible Says:

And they shall scoff at the kings, and the princes shall be a scorn unto them: they shall deride every strong hold; for they shall heap dust, and take it—Habakkuk 1:10.

The assault on Christianity is being continued by the men in the Kremlin. Moscow is trying to stamp out the Czech Catholic church in a prelude to further assaults on religion.

Voice of the People

"VOX POPULI, VOX DEI"

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Dear Sir—There is agitation for a universal old age pension to be paid partly by the federal government and partly by the provincial government. At the same time there is a move afoot to allow the provinces to increase their revenue by having the federal government change the BNA Act so that the provinces can apply a hidden tax on retail sales. It is even suggested the hidden turnover tax might finance the provinces share of the old age pension payments.

How paradoxical can you get?

It is impossible to think of a more effective way to negate pension payments than by the imposition of a hidden sales tax. Not only would the tax itself bite into pension dollars in a most alarming way, but the cumulative effect that such a tax would bring about in helping to raise the whole cost of living would be unbearable.

Can even the most cynical politician keep a smile of his face while he holds out a pension promise with one hand if he cold-bloodedly is planning to bludgeon the recipient with the other? Calgary MINE'S NEAR DUE.

CHILDREN DENIED

Dear Sir—My heart is broken whenever I read of some child being abandoned, abused, or even murdered by some parent who doesn't want children. Yet, I and my husband, who both want a child so bad, can't have one. We're going to try and adopt one and he or she will certainly get the best of treatment. Edmonton. SUBSCRIBER.

LIKES LOCAL NEWS

Dear Sir: I've been reading your paper for over a year now and I'm very satisfied because it brings so much hometown news to me here in Calgary. Many of my friends haven't been to my home town, but they all enjoy your paper. Calgary. BILL DANYLUK.

IT'S HIS OPINION

Dear Sir—The Catholic church doesn't stand for religious freedom. Pope Leo XII said the Protestant Bible is the "Gospel of the Devil" and Pope Gregory XVI said "we condemn the publication, distribution and reading of books of the Holy Scriptures translated into the vulgar tongue." Hughenden V. T. G. TWIGG.

IN THE NUDE

Dear Sir: I see where western farm groups have gone to Ottawa again in search of a "final wheat payment". It's just another useless joy-ride. The farmer is losing his briches and soon, like the Doukhors, will be in the nude unless those swelled-headed bums are ditched.

TOM L. FOULSON, Rochfort Bridge.

MARICLE A TRAITOR?

Dear Sir: That "Reader" who wrote to the Voice column asking if Frank Maricle shouldn't be considered a true patriot doesn't know what it's all about. Sure, Mr. Maricle is a very nice man and he probably wants peace just as all people do. But anybody who attended the Communist World Peace Congress in Warsaw is a traitor to his country.

Why? Because the Communists don't want peace. Stalin wrote in his book that "the epoch of world revolution has begun... (we) should stand up against the capitalist world... raising revolts against the capitalists... even with armed forces against their governments."

To Stalin, peace means conquest.

ANOTHER READER, Smoky Lake.

Provincial Government Refuses to Report On Alberta Child Welfare Situation

Alberta government will not present a report on child welfare as requested by the Liberal Party here, it was learned this week.

Liberal members of the legislature had requested a "full, complete and exhaustive report" from minister of public welfare Dr. Cross on the measures taken by the government to implement recommendations of the royal commission on child welfare.

The child welfare report of three years ago contained 23 recommendations. The Liberal members asked to know the government's reasons for failure to carry out some of these recommendations.

Harper Prowse, provincial Liberal leader, told this paper that government members said they agreed with some of the royal commission's recommendations and had implemented them, but would ignore those recommendations it wasn't in agreement with.

Across-border adoptions made last year by the welfare agencies of the provincial government in defiance of the recommendations of the royal commission were strongly disapproved by the provin-

A resolution to this effect will go to the minister of health and welfare, Mrs. P. P. Griffith, Edmonton, provincial president, told delegates that in the recent report of the welfare department laid before the provincial legislature a certain number of across-border and even out-of-Canada adoptions were indicated.

"This is in direct contravention to the findings of the royal commission. I feel we should deplore this disregard, for children thus adopted have not the protection that those adopted within our borders have. The royal commission declared such adoptions to be not in the national interests."

Alberta Coal Shipments To East Discontinued

Shipments of coal to eastern markets from its mines in Alberta have been halted because of increased freight rates, officials of Canadian Collieries said this week.

The rate boosts, which run as high as $2.35 a ton on coal moving from Alberta to Toronto, are removing the last big profitable market from the western mines.

Western Coal Federation, which has been battling the proposed new freight rate structure for several months, reports that the rail lines have now put the boosts into effect. This threatens all western mining operations, which employ more than 10,000 men.

STRONG PROTEST MADE HERE

Strong protests from Alberta labor unions and other organizations are being made against the high rates coal producers are forced to pay in shipping their coal east via the railways.

Western coal miners had been able to lay down coal in eastern markets in growing amounts recently, and had hoped they would be able to start to compete against American imports in that area. Eastern Canada brings in about $250,000,000 in U.S. coal each year.

"We have now discontinued our shipments because of the new rates," an official of Canadian Collieries said this week.

The railways, who claimed they had been losing money on the coal haul, also threaten to add further boosts to coal rates next year. Any decision on the matter will come under jurisdiction of Mines Minister Geo. Prudham.

LETTER TO LOUISA

Mourning Period Should Last at Least 3 Months

DEAR LOUISA—My father died about six weeks ago. He had been in ill health a long time and was quite old.

My problem is this, I had been planning a tea for several brides and thought I would go on with it but my husband thinks I should wait at least three months out of respect.

What do you think?

Answer:

I think you would lay yourself open to criticism if you had an elaborate tea so soon after your father's death. If it were just a small party for a few intimate friends, it might be different.

I usually think that each person has to judge those things for himself, as it really boils down to how he, himself, feels about it.

Can't you wait a few months? The brides will probably enjoy it just as much later on.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa—My son told me a few days ago that he thought the present day wives managed their work so much better than we women did twenty years ago.

I agreed with him, but I added that if we could have stacked dishes in a dishwasher and thrown all the soiled clothes in a washing machine, instead of heating water on a wood stove and doing all the actual work of scrubbing, lifting pails of water and keeping a fire going, we would have managed better, too.

Don't you agree with me?

SIXTY.

Answer:

I was one of those brides without conveniences, too. And although I live in a warmer state than you do, I depended on open grate fires for heat and a kerosene stove in the kitchen for cooking.

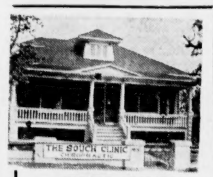

I doubt if many of the girls today would feel so full of pep at the end of the day, if they had to cope with the hardships and inconveniences we older ones looked upon as necessary evils.

LOUISA.

Labor Shortage May Hit Civilian Production Here

(By British United Press)

A mass call to arms across Canada would create a serious labor shortage and retard local production in Alberta, a survey here disclosed this week.

Even under present conditions Alberta farmers have been forced to revamp their farming methods to cope with a labor shortage, O. S. Longman, deputy minister of agriculture, said in an interview. Deputy industries and labor minister J. E. Oberholtzer said Alberta's industrial development clouds the picture so far as the labor supply is concerned.

"There is now a nice balance between the labor supply and demand. However, Alberta is passing through a transition period of industrial development that makes the future uncertain," he said.

He said the same doubt exists all the way across Canada, where industrial development has been a product of the postwar period. Alberta's development has been more rapid than most provinces, due to the great forward strides in the search for oil and gas.

Alberta's labor force was estimated recently at 350,000 men, nearly half of them farm workers.

MAY HAVE TO IMPORT LABOR

Oberholtzer said importation of labor may be necessary to keep pace with the industrial expansion, which some day may make Alberta more of an industrial than an agricultural province as at present.

"The difficulty of obtaining adequate labor is modifying the design of our agriculture," Longman said. "We are devoting more attention to wheat production and grass fed beef cattle production."

"These enterprises require a minimum amount of labor and at the moment are providing the maximum return to the land owner, while farm enterprises such as dairying, hog production and poultry production are suffering."

Longman listed these reasons for the "increasing difficulty" in obtaining sufficient farm labor:

1. Rapid industrial and urban development.
2. Higher wages and shorter hours of employment for urban workers.
3. Provision of workmen's compensation, medical aid, pension payments and unemployment insurance for most workers but not those on the farm.

It is essential that agriculture attract a greater percentage of our population, if it is to meet the food needs of our urban development," Longman said.

Oil and gas transmission lines can be built over mountain tops, but skirting them means cheaper construction, cheaper gas and more dependable maintenance.

HITS 'EXPERTS'

Labor Chief Sees No Shortage In Working Force

"It is unlikely there will be any labor shortage in Alberta, but if there is extreme care must be taken in screening immigrants," declared H. G. Turner, secretary of the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council.

He made the statement when told that J. E. Oberholtzer said it might be necessary to import labor to keep pace with industrial expansion here.

Mr. Turner said that the whole trouble with importing labor is that insufficient care is taken in screening prospective workers. He said they are brought here as experts in some particular trade or profession, but when they arrive it's found they can't do the job they're supposed to do.

Consequently, he said, they become a drag on the labor market, and are willing to take any job at lower than prevailing wages.

"This is the thing organized labor fears," he added.

Mr. Turner went on to say that he expected no labor shortage because business expansion is being held back due to new government building curbs. He cited the instances of two Edmonton department stores and a bank which had to either drop or curtail their building plans here.

EDMONTON JEWRY OBJECT OF VICIOUS NEW HATE CAMPAIGN

Edmonton Jews this week became the object of a vicious hate campaign promoted by a so-called anti-Communist organization. Latest tactic adopted by the movement is the use of forgery to smear political opponents.

The startling disclosure came when Edmonton members of the "Canadian Anti-Communist League" received copies of "The Canadian Intelligence Service," a paper devoted mainly to smearing Jews.

The self-styled "Anti-Communist League," headed by Ross Gostick, who addressed a public meeting at the IOOF hall here recently and spoke to the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, charges that Jews are financing the Communist movement here and abroad.

In the current issue of "Canadian Intelligence Service," a forged letter is printed as fact. The letter supposedly was written by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt to a Mr. Zahronsky, former president of the National Council of Young Israel. The letter smears Jews in general, and by association, Edmonton Jews.

The forged letter outlines how Roosevelt supposedly offered to share world power with Russia, using the Jews as intermediary in his negotiations.

HEADQUARTERS DIV. SOUTH SIDE

Alberta branch of the "Anti-Communist League," located at 8514 104 St., has been distributing the paper carrying the forged letter.

The letter in the "Intelligence Service" has been proven a forgery by the U.S. State Department, and the manner in which it was fabricated is outlined in a recent issue of Time magazine.

The "Anti-Communist League" is the successor to the "Canadian Social Credit Movement," and the League's publication, "Canadian Intelligence Service," is the successor to "Social Credit," which discontinued publication last December. However, Gostick's Social Credit was not connected with Alberta Social Credit.

When Gostick, of Walters Falls, Ont., spoke before the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce he said

FAMILY MOURNS BURNED PUP

An Edmonton family is mourning for their two month old Irish Setter pup, victim of a "sadist".

George A. Roessli, 10828 105 St., told police that someone had thrown the pup into a burning garbage can. The dog was so badly burned that Mr. Roessli was forced to destroy it.

That Communism appeals only to non-Christians. He has persistently linked Communism with the Jews, and smeared Canadians of Jewish origin on every possible occasion.

Typical of the Jew-baiting carried out by Gostick in his publications are inside references to Jews as the fomenters of all rack-ets and intrigues.

For instance: "... U.S. authorities have just picked up three individuals smuggling $638,298 worth of diamonds into America. The three are: Lelster Weitman, Mrs. Eta Hoffman, Eli Stern. A fourth, Sol Biensstock, was apprehended smuggling gold out of America. No comment!"

Another:

An item referring to the arrest of nine persons on narcotic charges in Toronto, some of them Jewish, said "... the same cult is behind most racket-ets."

Gostick and his movement present opposition to almost every progressive piece of social legislation that comes up in Canada, such as the Fair Employment Practices act, and the proposed bill of rights. He intimates that such legislation is only sponsored by Jews to build up Communism in Canada.

Jack Scott's Column

For The Ears

By JACK SCOTT

Got to thinking the other day of what a part sound plays in our lives, mostly unconsciously, and how much that is beautiful must be lost to those without hearing.

What would summer be without the sign of a lazy surf or the high voices of the kids in the water or the drone of the bee? Surely something less wonderful. What would life be if we were never again to hear the drumming of the rain on the shingles? Or ice tinkling in a tall drink?

I remember once sitting in a camp in Aldershot, homeick as a lost spaniel, and hearing a program the BBC had put out for the Canadian troops in England. They had recorded a lot of sounds in Canada and one was the sound of a train whistle. I had to blow my nose several times. I suppose you have to miss a sound to know what it means to you.

Train sounds would probably be high in everybody's list of favorites. I think now if I had to pick the most thrilling sound in my memory it would be the sound of a train I heard as a boy.

My father and I had gone camping in the Rockies. One night we pitched our tent at Albert Canyon in a field not more than 40 paces from the tracks. When the transcontinental came through in the early morning it was like it was coming through the tent. The sound just filled up your insides, shattering, crushing, full of terror and joy.

When it reached down the valley with the banhee whistle screaming for a bend my dad whispered across to me from his sleeping bag, "Let's stay here tomorrow night (continued on page 2.)"

Jack Scott

LARGEST AIRBORNE load of immigrants ever to arrive in Canada set down at Toronto last week in a British Airways stratoncruiser. Trans-Canada Airline is landing about 150 a week and has a waiting list of about 1,400. Transatlantic traffic is so heavy, TCA requires weekly 10 to 12 "second sections" on flights.

and hear it again." And we did.

Sound itself is a far more potent instrument of fear than sight. If you're a parent you know the flip-flops of the heart when the baby cries suddenly in the night. Or the foreign foot-step creaking on the porch. Or—worse of all—the clangor of a telephone bell at 3 a.m., the terrifying prelude to bad news or—miracles!—a wrong number.

It was sound alone that made the V-1 or "buzz-bomb" so much more effective than the British people ever admitted. As a war instrument it was no great shakes, but I watched a lot of stout-hearted Londoners die a little from it and will never forget that preposterous outboard and then the silence as it cut out and began its dive. Only the explosion brought relief.

By all odds the worst sound I remember is that of a man weeping. I hope I never hear that again. It came from a man in my camp. He was older than any of us and, more than that a fellow with no co-ordination. He was, for example, physically and mentally incapable of marching in step (that heinous crime of warriors) and he was razed constantly by the coky young NCO's who were expected to put us soft civilians into shape.

His worst trial was in breaking down and assembling the Bren gun. He would get the parts all hopelessly mixed up and would be fumbling with them, banana-fingered, long after the rest of us had put our guns together. The NCO's barked and hollered at him every session until one day he just put his head down in his arms and started to sob.

There wasn't a sound in that

Brighter Outlook is Seen For Alberta Coal Industry

STE. ANNE DE BELLEVUE, Que. — (BUP) — A brighter outlook for Alberta's coal industry is seen here with the development of a project to make coal-burning locomotives cheaper to run.

The Alberta coal industry has been losing markets recently, and if the project here is successful a new market will be opened up for low grade coal.

Working at Macdonald Agricultural College, Prof. D. L. Mordell of McGill University was conducting experiments which he hoped would eventually enable coal-burning engines to travel enormous drill hall but his weeping. It was a terrible thing to hear.

I have been thinking of all the sounds I like to hear. You could make a list as long as your arm.

The sizzling sound of trout in a pan, for instance, is music for the gods. Or how about the "kok!" of a well-hit wood shot or that metallic clunk when a long putt goes down or the bite of skate blades in ice or the sound of canoe paddles dipping in a lake or the crackle of a log fire or the voice of an old friend speaking on the long distance phone or the scream of the gulls.

Troule with most of us, I suppose, is that we hear too many sounds — the constant blabber of the radio, the crash of traffic and machines, the sound of too many people talking too much, a great avalanche of decibels beating upon the ear-drums.

It leaves us unprepared for the impact of a really beautiful sound — a meadowlark, for example — a sound that comes gift-wrapped in silence.

four times as far as present steam locomotives on the same amount of fuel.

He said the engine would also be more economical than present steam types because it would burn lower grades of coal. He said to run a locomotive of the type he was planning would cost only one-third as much as a diesel engine.

A further advantage of his engine, Mordell said, would be that as the weather becomes colder, its power and efficiency increase, while the opposite is the case with the old-type coal-burning locomotive.

GOVT AIDS RESEARCH WORK

The federal department of mines and technical surveys, under Minister Geo. Prudham of Edmonton, recently backed up its interest in Mordell's work with a substantial grant, and loaned the professor two of its scientists.

Mordell, who was engaged in the development of jet propulsion gas turbines for aircraft with the Rolls-Royce Company in Britain before coming to Canada in 1947, explained that so far his engine still is in the planning stage. However, the federal grant soon will make possible the building of a 500-horsepower stationary gas burning turbine mechanism for actual experiments.

The professor said that his problem was getting fine steel needed to withstand the high temperatures involved in testing and perfecting the engine.

Mordell said that his stationary engine, a compromise in size and cost, could be built for about $100,000, while the construction of a regular 4,000 horsepower locomotive for experimental purposes would run to $1,000,000.

Mordell hoped that his experimental stationary engine would be ready to function by the end of 1951, and added that "it is possible that in a year to 18 months later we may have the answer to several problems. With these answers, a coal-burning gas locomotive could be designed which would have a reasonable prospect of success."

LESLIE CARON, petite girl from Paris, gets her first taste of that American delicacy—a hot dog. Leslie was discovered in the French capital by Gene Kelly and was signed as his dancing partner in the forthcoming musical, "An American in Paris".

Indian Chief Satisfied With New Indian Act

REGINA, Sask.—(BUP)—Chief Joseph Dreaver of the Mistawis Indian Reserve at Leak, Sask., was well satisfied with the treatment accorded Indian representatives who went to Ottawa to discuss contents of the Indian bill with the government.

"It seemed just a few years ago that the Indian delegations had a lot of trouble to get a hearing from anyone in Ottawa, and here we were by the call of the minister, free to express our opinion and to ask any questions we cared to ask," he said.

"During the conference we were assured and told over and over again by the minister that the Indian treaties would always be respected by the government and that no Canadian government would ever intentionally break any treaties or take away any Indian rights."

"No Indian representatives came away fully satisfied with the contents of the new bill, but all felt that the future looked a little brighter for our people. This was a great occasion for us, the first time in the history of the dominion that a minister in charge of Indian affairs had taken the trouble to call representative Indians to discuss a proposed act concerning Indians."

Bearded Bible Student May Restore Peace to Doukhobors

By ROBERT HERTZLER
(British United Press Staff Writer)

VANCOUVER, B.C.—(BUP)—Students of British Columbia's time-worn Doukhobor problem believe the main hope for peace with the fanatically religious sect rests in a burly, bearded Bible student who speaks no English.

His name is Steffan Sorokin. He is a former Siberian slave laborer whom 2,500 members of the radical Sons of Freedom faction of the Doukhobor sect hail as a heaven-sent leader.

Sorokin recently told reporters through an interpreter he once was a Russian member of the Greek orthodox church who became a Baptist Bible student after a 10-year exile in Siberia. He arrived in British Columbia's Kootenay region from Germany last year at the height of what provincial officials hope was the last outbreak of violence the Freedmites will stage.

His arrival in the midst of arson, dynamites and nude parading fitted neatly into old-time Freedomite prophecies which held that a "heavensent" spiritual leader would come to them in an hour of trial.

Some illiterate sect members believe Sorokin really is Peter Verigin III, coming from mother Russia to continue the ancestral line of Freedomite leaders.

Sorokin does his best to eliminate those beliefs. He described himself here as "a true Christian who is working to help a most unhappy people."

The bearded Bible student eventually will lead the Sons of Freedom to a new home, probably in British Columbia, and away from the Nelson-Kootenay area where the sect has staged bitter and violent demonstrations for more than 20 years. The Freedmites themselves will make the final decision on where they will erect new homes and clear new farms under Sorokin's leadership.

A few of the 12,000 orthodox Doukhobors view Sorokin as a religious opportunist, but most have faith in him and believe he will convert the Freedmites to peaceful citizens.

His most recent pronouncement to his flock was that he had uncovered evidence that riots and arson in the Nelson-Creston area of British Columbia involving Doukhobors were incited by "agents of Stalin."

The Freedmites, for religious reasons, cannot take up firearms. Sorokin said through his interpreter, however, that "if Stalin comes to Canada, maybe we'll throw rocks at him."

Cancer Research Here Has Promising Outlook

From a research laboratory in Edmonton may some day flash the news that will electrify the world, give new hope to millions, and mark the medical profession's greatest triumph over disease.

On that day, an earnest white-coated research worker may say, with all the caution and reserve of his profession: "I think we know now what causes cancer."

It is that dream which is prompting the Alberta Cancer Society to establish the first centralized and co-ordinated medical research centre in Alberta—the Dr. J. S. McEachern Cancer Research Laboratory on the University of Alberta campus.

It is that dream which every Albertan brings closer to reality by his contribution to the Alberta Cancer Society's campaign for funds.

The Society hopes to place $150,000 at the disposal of University of Alberta authorities, so that construction of a research laboratory can begin as soon as possible.

The laboratory will concentrate—for the first time in Alberta's medical history—all research work under one roof, where necessary technical requirements will be available to research workers. It will be a building complete with project rooms for individual workers' experiments, an isotope laboratory, operating and sterilization rooms, X-ray facilities, and with much of the equipment modern science has provided for the research, such as the electron microscope and the scintipen, a visual aid teaching and pathological apparatus.

Within this ordinary-looking two-story brick building will begin what may well be the most dramatic and far-reaching story ever to come out of Alberta.

This much is known about cancer: dreaded and killing as it is, it is nothing more than abnormal, uncontrolled growth of human body cells. The answer to its insidious effect lies in finding and turning off the tap on that abnormal growth.

Horse Lovers Here Roused; Retire Dobbin or Eat Him?

By GEORGE A. DOBIE
(British United Press Staff Writer)

One of the juiciest arguments to raise the ire of horse-lovers since the days of the automobile still rages here over whether to superannuate Dobbin or eat him.

An Edmonton firm recently established the first fresh horse meat store in the nation.

Business was fairly steady the first day. But most of the shoppers were mainly inquisitive. They apparently were willing to let some others do the experimenting and then take their cue from them at a later date.

In the next stall there is a regular butcher counter. The butcher here was inclined to sneer at his new competition, but he couldn't argue against the horse meat prices, which were less than half of his.

For instance, ground horse meat (hamburger) was selling at 20 cents a pound, compared to 60 cents at the regular butcher shops. The lowest horse meat price was 10 cents a pound for soup bones, 40 cents for horse tenders and 35 cents for roasts.

To govern horse meat sales should they become province-wide, the Alberta government passed regulations reminiscent of the days when margarine was introduced as a butter substitute. The main purpose of the regulations was to make sure horse meat is not sold as anything but that.

But how could man suddenly turn on his faithful servant over the years since time immemorial, cried the opponents of horse meat sales. The machine age has pretty well made old dobbin useless, but that's no reason to start slaughtering him.

LIKE EATING BEST FRIEND

"It's like eating your best friend... cannibalism, no less," they declared.

"That's strictly a psychological argument that can easily be overcome in time," replied the proponents of horse meat.

They said health authorities had definitely established horse meat is nourishing. "In addition, the horse is probably the most cleaning of all animals and is more particular than the rest regarding its own sanitary habits," one said. "History tells us," he added, "that in the days before scientific bottle-feeding of babies took place, mare's milk was recognized as a substitute."

Training Canucks Blast Craters in Landscape

By ROBERT HERTZLER
British United Press Staff Writer

FORT LEWIS, Wash.—(BUP)—One unit of Canada's special force waiting to sail for Korea has spent four months digging holes in part of Washington landscape known as Nisqually Flat.

The holes themselves aren't very impressive to the casual observer. There are hundreds scattered over the rolling, gravelly flat. All are uniformly round, about four feet across and perhaps knee deep.

They are craters gouged out by the high-explosives and flying steel splinters of 25-pound artillery shells.

Lt. Col. A. J. B. Bailey, better known to his men as "Colonel Tony," is the man who saw to it that Nisqually Flat was thoroughly pock-marked by the 24 guns of the 2nd Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery.

At the time the earth-biting high explosives were fired, neat cloth tapes were laid out to form narrow lines across the flat. The idea was to make the shells walk the tape lanes. The guns were fired a mile to a mile and a half away.

In several of the training exercises carried out in the past few months, as many as 100 shells were fired in 10-minute barrages—without a single shell landing outside the designated sectors.

The fall of shells was so regular in one such exercise that apart from the noise, the smoke could have been taken for the puffs that arise from a train on a frosty morning.

Brig. John M. Rockingham, commander of Canada's special services force, paid tribute to Col. Bailey's steel-throwing outfit on last-minute maneuvers.

"Every gun of the battery could put a shell in your hip pocket if you asked them," he quipped.

By RAYMOND ARGYLE

Something that our town's lacked for the past 12 years will become once again a colorful sight this summer when Exhibition time rolls around.

A parade is being planned to open the Exhibition, and it's expected that several hundred floats will participate in it.

According to Bill Hawrelak, who heads the Edmonton Exhibition Association's parade committee, 1300 district businesses
and organizations are being invited to enter the parade.

Parade will consist of about 12 sections depicting such varied activities as oil, commerce, agriculture, youth, and so on. Prizes will be given for the best floats.

The event is designed to tie
in with the opening of the $1-000,000 grandstand here — one of the finest on the continent.

Major reason for holding the parade, though, Mr. Hawrelak told us, is tighten the bonds between city and country and make the Exhibition truly the place where
"city and country meet."

Tommy Shandra, local public relations man, is handling the organizational end of the parade.
And, as an advance notice, the Exhibition opens July 16 and runs through July 21.

JUST COUNT 'EM: Last week
this column ran an item regarding the forthcoming census —, and that applicants for jobs as enumerators should contact the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

According to officials at the Bureau, "hundreds" of people went to their office, and one official said he received telephone calls at his home up to "eleven o'clock at night."

Seems a gremlin got in the works. Although publicity received from this column regarding the census came from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the local office here isn't doing the hiring for the census.

National Employment service is making all arrangements for enumerators.

"Ho, hum . . . think we'll close up our "job bureau."

THE BUDGET: After solemnly contemplating the Budget for the last 10 days, the following thoughts came to me:

Twenty per cent more. I did not know I had that much.

Two cents each. So round, so firm, so fully packed.

A semi-feudal state in 1917, Russia has become Canada's largest industry.

Two things they always find more room on cars for — chrome and taxes.

The big news on prices is that the cost of living did not go up in March. They do not say what the cost of living did not do in April.

HERE AND THERE: W. K.
McLeitch, formerly of Winnipeg,
in our town to open a branch office for the Cunard Donaldson steamship lines. . . Harold Weir, ex-Bulletin editorial page editor,
now writing spicy columns for the Vancouver Sun. . . A cartoon in the International Oil Worker shows a customer leaning over the counter in a butcher shop and saying, "How about a third down and the balance in monthly instalments?" . . . Alberta labor interests will make another effort to have the Liquor Act broadened.
... South Sider Leroy Goldsworthy home from coaching Buffalo (N.Y.) hockey team. . . Gord Williamson back on the job at CFRN after a week's vacation.
... Studio Theatre personnel planning a bigger and better theatrical season next fall.

THAT'S ALL for now. A pleasant week to everybody . . . especially to all wives who are sure their husbands are going to embarrass them by telling that awful joke again.

Edmonton Jewry . . .

former advisor to the Alberta Social Credit government.

Byrne, writing in one of Gostick's publications, blasted the United Nations and said "... origin (of the United Nations), can be traced to the scheme put forward by James Warburg of Kuhn, Loeb and Co., and subsequently promoted by Clarence Kirshman Streit for a federation of "democracies" under a world authority controlling finance, the armed forces, police, civil rights and international trade—in fact, an absolute tyranny on the model of the USSR."

He reveals his anti-Jewish character when he adds that, after Korea, "Further Soviet (i.e. Zionist) sponsored aggression can be promoted . . ."

The "Anti-Communist League"
has been growing in numbers in Alberta, and many adherents were followers of Social Credit in its early days here.

It can now be revealed that two Edmonton members of the League attempted to have censored news published in this newspaper, and told an editor of this paper that anyone who printed anything against them would regret it.

The whole policy of the organization has been to smear respectable and worthy citizens of Jewish origin. Under the guise of fighting Communism, the League is carrying on a spiteful smear campaign against a Canadian minority.

Edmontonians who have associated themselves in any way with
the "Anti-Communist League" might be well advised to consider the nature of the movement they have been supporting.

Farmers' Union to Appeal For Sand, Gravel Rights

The Farmers' Union of Alberta will appeal the sand and gravel court case involving two Edmonton district farmers, according to Henry Young, president.

Last year an oil company brought suit against two Edmonton district farmers who had gravel pits on their land, claiming that the sand and gravel went with the mineral rights. In spite of the apparent absurdity and injustice of this claim, the judge awarded the gravel to the oil company.

This means that the farmers in question lose their rights to the sand and gravel on their land, and that they still will have to pay the oil company for all the gravel sold from the pits in question since they were started. If this is allowed to stand, it may affect the rights of farmers in many parts of the province.

The provincial government has felt so disturbed by the court's decision that they have enacted a law that in future all sand and gravel shall belong to the owner of the surface. The government is to be commended upon their action but it is uncertain whether this law will cover the many cases where mineral rights were alienated long ago. This can only be decided by a test case taken to the highest court in Canada.

As the interests of many farmers are involved, the Farmers' Union has decided to appeal this case. This will involve heavy expense as it is altogether probable that the case will have to be carried to the Supreme Court of Canada. A fund is therefore being opened at the Farmers' Union Office and an appeal is being made to all farmers to send contributions to this fund as soon as possible.

NEW CASE OFFSET HARROW

GREASED FOR LIFE OF DISK BLADES

• You don't need a grease gun with this new Case "CO" offset harrow. Its big ball bearings have lubricant sealed in, dust sealed out. They're made to run without attention for the full life of the heavy, heat-treated blades—and that's a long time. This harrow has no bars or levers above the height of the blades, no sharp corners on the snug-fit frame. Come in and see its quick-closing, non-ridding, wide-offset features.

When you add it all up...

WHEN you consider the men, women and money needed to operate 3,700 branches — you see what is involved in looking after the greatly increased demands made by busy Canadians upon their chartered banks.

In ten years ... with bigger staffs and higher wages, payrolls have jumped from $40 million a year to $102 million

... taxes, federal, provincial and municipal, have risen from $9.5 million to $20.7 million a year

... interest paid to depositors has increased from $22 million to $57.8 million a year.

And these are only three of many expense items. Yes, today more than ever, it costs money to run a bank.
